Join a Political Party!

The last few weeks have confirmed the importance of party politics in Canada. No one can ever say again that Canadian politics is boring!

There are many reasons to join a political party. As a member you may participate in debates to determine party policies to address such issues as standardized testing, childcare and economic policy that set the stage for election platforms.

The Ontario NDP has a leadership vote scheduled for March 6-8 2009 in Hamilton. Under the ONDP's one-member-one vote policy you can help choose the leader. At the same March convention, the ONDP may debate continuing its support for publicly-funded Catholic schools. The only way to participate in this debate is to attend this convention by joining the party and becoming a delegate. To attend this convention, you must join the ONDP before January 6, 2009.
